Press Release

HIALEAH'S BUSINESS SECTOR CONTINUES TO EXPAND

Hialeah, Florida –

Despite the difficulties many have faced while living in a very turbulent economy, the City of Hialeah continues to see growth in its business sector by establishing relationships between new vendors and the community. The latest example of this successful formula was the opening of Jet Stream Federal Credit Union on Wednesday. The branch officially opened its doors to an eager crowd with music, food and warm hospitality. On hand for the opening ceremony were Mayor Julio Robaina and several members of the Hialeah City Council to welcome our new neighbors.

Jet Stream Federal is bringing a new way to bank to the City allowing residents the ability to save their money, receive financing and apply for loans during a time when it's needed most. The branch, located at 3595 West 20 Avenue, Suite 120, welcomes Hialeah residents to come in and introduce themselves.
